

DELIA ICE CARNIVAL

Delia Hockey Club Stages Fun and Frolic at Annual Event

Despite incalculable weather the Delia Hockey Club had a successful opening week when the carnival was held last week. There was a full attendance of about 100 persons, although some competition in costumes was somewhat restricted.

Chief attraction of the evening was the hockey game, married men v. pro. Two old sports of the original line-up of the elders, Michael Bell and T. P. Hieger were the main attraction. The game was a close one, with the Delia team winning by a score of 2 to 1.

Other events of the evening were a skating rink, a dance, and a variety show. The Delia team was victorious in all events.

Age and Wages

(By W. J. CAMBRON, of the Ford Motor Company)

You have probably observed in the many road of questions and charges about the new wage scale that it will stand still long enough to be thrived out, or assured. There is indeed a great deal of talk about the new wage scale, but it is not as simple as it seems.

The new wage scale is not as simple as it seems. It is a very complicated one, and it is not as simple as it seems.

Resources For Western Benefit

The petroleum industry in Western Canada has been making great forward strides in the past few months and these recent developments indicate that the time may not be far distant when American sources of supply of crude will be shut off altogether and the entire consumption requirements of at least the prairie provinces be furnished from Western Canadian wells. Such consumption of the petroleum products is what is at present the largest Western Canadian crude oil field, Turner Valley in Alberta, is not only highly productive but also has been activated in the very near future, provided producers, consumers, refining organizations, both privately and co-operatively owned, and the transportation companies will agree to make a compromise between the two in order to get together as a unit for the achievement of this objective.

There is no longer any question as to the capacity of the Turner Valley field to supply all of Western Canada's requirements. As a source of supply of oil of excellent quality for possibly many years to come, Turner Valley is a proven field and is not only able to supply all requirements in the prairie provinces but probably contains reserves sufficient to supply the entire West as well. The oil in the field is of the best quality and is required to be made in a quantity sufficient for the two in order to get together as a unit for the achievement of this objective.

Some steps in this direction have already been taken by a reduction in railway rates on railroad barge between the Turner Valley field and Regina, Saskatchewan, where there is a large refinery. The Canadian National Railway Co. Ltd. has announced their intention of expanding their already large plant in Regina, providing for a substantially increased number of employees. Smaller refineries in Regina and other parts of the province have also announced they are prepared to expand materially provided they are permitted to share in reduced transportation charges by a reduction in carlot rates comparable with the lowered railroad rates.

The owners of the large privately-operated refining plant have announced that they are considering the application of the same to the entire province for reduced freight rates on carlot barge, but railway officials appearing before the Board of Railway Commissioners have been unable to agree to such a reduction. Arguments on both sides were presented and the matter was left in the hands of the Railway Board for a decision.

Pipeline Chapter

From the viewpoint of the producer and consumer, however, chief interest must have been in the unfulfilled announcement by transportation company representatives that railroad rates were reduced to meet the needs of the oil industry. The fact that the rates were reduced to meet the needs of the oil industry is a fact that has been well known for some time. The fact that the rates were reduced to meet the needs of the oil industry is a fact that has been well known for some time.

What Is Done

The dual situation at the source of supply and at the smaller refinery, coupled with the information received at the hearing before the Board of Railway Commissioners, has led to the conclusion that the producers and the independent and co-operative refinery plants for finance a pipeline, unless some reasonable freight rate concession is granted the latter. The fact that the rates were reduced to meet the needs of the oil industry is a fact that has been well known for some time.

Economic Balance

From Saskatchewan it is estimated that not less than $100,000 a day has been finding its way into the treasuries of producers on the other side of the international boundary and American valleys. Although it can be done to divert this to the advantage of Western Canadian oil producers and the Canadian railways should also benefit the taxpayers and consumers of this country.

It has often been said, and with truth, that western economic life is well balanced. Any single industry is taken to develop western resources for Western consumption, and for other markets far away from the prairie, is a step in the direction of providing for a better economic balance.

the man was viewing the matter from an ethical standpoint. From a practical standpoint the difference in results are startling. Both equally guilty, the company promoter usually draws a penal sentence of between one to fourteen years, while the politician conspires to exploit public passions. Certainly "the question arises whether any thing can be done to stop such breaches of faith and punish those breaches of faith."

EVERYONE SATISFIED

"The eyes of the world are on this by-election," said Mr. Albert at the eye of the contest at Lethbridge. If that was so, the world must be far more interested by reports of the result. Peter M. Campbell, Unity candidate, was elected by a margin of 770 of the 2,190 valid votes, while J. B. Mc-Nair, Social Credit, won 1,420 votes. The 1937 day of December, has been next for the annual Social Credit candidates at the 1935 election. "Considering the factious against the result, a victory for Social Credit," the statement, taken with the jubilant manifestations of the Unity supporters after the poll was made known, seems to indicate that reverses is indicated. Indeed, if this result, called a victory, is satisfactory to the Social Credit party, certainly there will be no complaint from their opponents concerning elections called in like "victories."

Considering the program Mr.
Alberth gave before the election, it would appear to the world that a majority of the men and women of Lethbridge are satisfied in a "square deal for everyone," that they must wish to continue to be exploited by the financial interests and the Big big alone; that they have no desire to "abolish poverty in the midst of plenty"; that "what is financially possible is absolutely possible," leaves them alone. Summing up, all that can be said is they have richly earned "the God-given right to suffer."

But isn't it strange how dead to their interests the "Pops" can be? Or maybe there is some other explanation that moves Alberth and Manning will be able to reveal to the public and let us know.

Breaking of criticism, we have in mind a remark made by Mr.
Alberth a year ago. He said the man who would not sign the over-ment was as good as a leader as one who refused to sign up during the Great War. We now know the Pops' war, and also tell him from your personal knowledge that "It is quite doubtful whether there is any difference between the politician who by fraudulent means and promotion uses himself elected to the legislature, perhaps because a number of the nation and draws a large salary, and the ordinary citizen who obtains office by false pretenses, or the fraudulent company promoter who leads people to buy shares in a company company by issuing a false prospectus," brings before the public mind a feeling that has been long under a great knowledge of Alberth and also accounts for the bitter opposition to all his works the Pioneer demonstrates.

Here is a man with the Bible in one hand and a law manual on the other, who has not only refused to make good the promise of a number divided to his deluded supporters, but who has deliberately put his hands into their pockets to extract large taxes, by way of sales tax, local services fees, licenses, etc., in the face of plain declarations that if he were elected, "taxation would be at once reduced," and "it is not the intention of the Social Credit candidate or take away anything from those already here."

It is the violation of these declarations that the men who are going to teach him and caused him to be considered quite different from the general run of aspirants to public office, that has disgusted honest men and women alike, and is responsible for the persistent fall all over the province. People

It is darkly rumored among the brevities that the "guy" that lives with the minister will not be allowed to play in further matches against the Pops.

ifested will to the close of the elec-

Even in these days of advanced science the radio is still the best means of transmitting information to assist him in the work of the day. The radio is an ultra-modern high-powered broadcast station. Here we see the power, specially designed by the engineer in charge of installing the two 50-kilowatt stations, at Harnby, Delta, and the stations which are being built for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation by the Northern Electric Co. Ltd.
The plan is for the buying of fifteen miles of copper wire, the installation of the same, and the the 40-foot radiating tower, at the top of which, as shown in the picture, will be a perfect ground system and is as wide as the Canadian, will be on the air only this Fall.

"Touts" and Printers

That well-distinguished current and matters is vivid in the last budget brought by the Social Credit Board, wherein Mr. A. J. Al-berth, Minister of Finance, has announced a new "touting" money "toss." It is true, with action learned by experience, the Director of Public Relations now has a name, but the term "touting" may be equally as objectionable as the word, and as such referred to the only means of "touting" money used in a derogatory sense, the little black, however, the above word is engaged in furthering the interests of a particular individual or profession. In fact, "touting" (so-called) are employed in numbers outside clothing, boot makers, haters, etc.; on rare occasions professional bookkeepers employ touts and so on; it follows then, as Mr. Al-berth declares, there may be a "sound money toss," but it is not the "touting" money used in the position of the paid propaganda of the S. C. Board. It is only another case of the old calling the kettle black. However, the above word, in vulgar remark has a sign of how low the professions have fallen in this country.

Mr. Al-berth seems to prefer it was on the occasion of the speech of Dr. B. Brink's Financial Lecture (in English) devoted to the presenting of the art of de-fronking, that King Edward VII.
Prince of Wales—told the as he had been told, "touting" money paganda of the S. C. Board. It is only
